REMARKS BY SENATOR PRENTICE

Senator Prentice: "This morning it is the President's privilege, as it is every year, to welcome our State's Dairy Ambassador to the Senate for Dairy Day."

INTRODUCTION OF SPECIAL GUESTS

The President Pro Tempore welcomed and introduced, the Dairy Queen Ambassadors, Shannon Rodeffer, 2011-2012 Washington State Dairy Ambassador; Emily Neff 2011-2012 Washington State Alternate Dairy Ambassador and Kristen Wedam 2011-2012 Washington State Alternative Dairy Ambassador who were seated at the rostrum.

With permission of the Senate, business was suspended to allow Dairy Ambassador Shannon Rodeffer to address the Senate.

REMARKS BY MISS SHANNON RODEFFER

Shannon Rodeffer: "Good morning, my name is Shannon Rodeffer, I'm eighteen years old. I spent my childhood on my family's dairy farm in Snohomish and I'm a proud ambassador for milk and the dairy industry. The best part of my job as the Washington State Dairy Ambassador is promoting our nutritious and delicious dairy products made from some of the highest quality milk in the nation. The dairy farmers of Washington promote healthy eating by spreading the word about how important it is to get three servings of dairy products each day for building bones, strong bones and teeth. We encourage young people to make smart choices about what they eat and to get plenty of physical activity. We support breakfast programs in our schools so that children may develop healthy habits instead of skipping breakfast as many kids do. Our farms create jobs, stimulate economic activity and even generate electricity. The dairy industry is Washington's second largest agricultural enterprise with an economic impact of over 2.3 billion dollars a year. A dairy operates every day and night even, farmers don't typically know what weekends are. We love our cows and what we do. No matter how exhausting or how bad the weather may be. We have generations of experience behind us but we also embrace new practices and technologies. Each of you are asked to vote on items that significantly impact us, yet some of you may not know much about what we do. I encourage you to talk to a farmer about how we take care of our animals, the land and ensure pure products for consumers. I invite you to review the video clips that we have put together about our farming practices on wadairy.com in the farmers spot light section. I really believe you will find these informative or better yet let us arrange for you and your family to visit one of our farms so you can learn firsthand about what we do and why we do. Thank you so much for this opportunity to speak with you this morning. I hope to see you at a local dairy event or a fair in the future and I invite you all to join us in the Rotunda at noon for some delicious ice cream. Thank you."

INTRODUCTION OF SPECIAL GUESTS

The President Pro Tempore welcomed and introduced members of the Washington State Dairy Women and County Dairy Ambassadors who were seated in the gallery.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Becker: "Thank you Madam President. Well, I'd like to stand up and say I'm so excited to see this group here. It's near and dear to my heart. I grew up on a dairy farm near Enumclaw and I see people up here that I know and two years ago, or year before last I actually I had the privilege and the pleasure to judge the Dairy Ambassador contest and I have to tell you it probably was one of the most difficult but one of the most exciting things that I have done. Growing up on a dairy farm is probably, from my perspective anyway, one of the healthiest ways you can grow up. You learn about life, you learn about death, you lose your calf, you learn about everything to do with how a farm goes on. I wish in our schools actually that we can have every child have an opportunity to see a dairy farm in the everyday working mode. Thank you for letting me talk about how special I think this group is. Thank you."

MOTION

On motion of Senator Eide, the reading of the Journal of the previous day was dispensed with and it was approved.

MOTION

There being no objection, the Senate advanced to the first order of business.

By Senators Hewitt, Litzow, Parlette, Fraser, Schoesler, Kohl-Welles, Shin, Hill, McAuliffe, Swecker, Brown, Morton, Ericksen, Delvin, Stevens, Becker, Murray, Fain, and Zarelli

WHEREAS, Slade Gorton, born in 1928, after graduating from Dartmouth and Columbia, and after serving in the United States Army and United States Air Force, went on to lead a life of matchless service to the citizens of Washington and to this country; and

WHEREAS, Slade Gorton married Sally Clark, from Yakima, his wife and teammate of 53 years, whose dedication has made possible his contributions to the general public welfare; and

WHEREAS, Slade Gorton, first elected to the Washington House of Representatives in 1958, subsequently rose to become the Majority Leader of the House; and

WHEREAS, Slade Gorton's tireless work on redistricting, which has shaped the political landscape of Washington for decades and will continue to shape its future, and his advocacy for equality in representation has ensured parity and vitality in our democratic process; and

WHEREAS, Slade Gorton became an early champion of Puget Sound environmental stewardship, stringent fuel economy standards, the Mountains to Sounds Greenway National Scenic Byway, salmon recovery, and Columbia River Gorge preservation; and

WHEREAS, Slade Gorton would serve three terms as Attorney General of Washington, appearing before the bench of the United States Supreme Court fourteen times, offering the best arguments before the Supreme Court of any attorney general in America; and

WHEREAS, His work on behalf of the citizens of Washington as Attorney General not only included serving as a faithful consumer advocate, but also brought professional baseball back to the Northwest, and later helped erect Safeco Field; and

WHEREAS, Slade Gorton would serve three terms in the United States Senate, where during his tenure there would be no greater intellectual adversary in opposition, or better champion as an ally, where he distinguished himself in matters of deficit reduction, and where, as chairman of the Interior Appropriations Subcommittee, and through pioneering education reform, he worked to enfranchise rural Washingtonians, and offered us many other notable accomplishments; and

WHEREAS, His work on the 9-11 Commission resulted in a clearer, distilled understanding of the tragedy, its causes, and strengthened our national security through its substantive recommendations; and

WHEREAS, His legacy of service continues through the Slade Gorton International Policy Center and the informal Gorton School of Public Affairs, which advanced the careers of countless women through employment in public service; and

The President Pro Tempore welcomed and introduced Senator Slade Gorton, wife Sally and daughter Mrs. Betsy Jack, who were seated at the rostrum.

REMARKS BY SENATOR SLADE GORTON

Senator Slade Gorton: "This is an honor and unexpected as it is welcomed particularly as a former member of the other house to be welcome here in the State Senate is especially notable. For each of you who has spoken, for Senator Hewitt who appointed me to the most recent position, to really two Senators who represent me both and Clyde Hill and the Senator from the Tenth district, I thank for her gracious remarks. For me, of course, coming back to Olympia is a homecoming. Sally and I lived here for more than the twelve years that I was the Attorney General. Becky and her siblings were brought up and went to school in this community so this past year of many trips to Olympia has been a matter of deja vu from my perspective. I can say, now that it is over, except for one formality on your part, 'I hope that all of you are reasonably pleased with your districts.'"

INTRODUCTION OF SPECIAL GUESTS

The President Pro Tempore welcomed and introduced members of the Consular Corps, Deputy Consul Yeonghan Choi of the Republic of Korea and Consul General Miguel Velaszuez of the Republic of Peru who were seated in the gallery.
